White's Maiden Speecch in the House. WASHINGTON, Jan. 11 .- Men representing around billion in sheep and mills, dressed in iny beavers and American-made cassimeres, have stood about the Riggs House corridors or sat in close conference in an up-stairs parlor all day. The wool men of three sorts have begun to compare notes and see whether they can agree on anything to submit to Congress, David L. Harpeter of Ohlo, a Jumbo in cheviots, said to-day that it was true that Mr. Randall was counted on to introduce and support whatever the conference agreed upon. Major McKinley would any way, he said a moment later, as if he thought his first statement might have been somewhat in doubt. There are not a few observers, men interested in wools, who have come to attend the conference, who think Mr. Randall is safe enough in making this promise, if he did, as the dealers, manufacturers, and growers are not even likely to come to any definite conon at all. The wings are a good way apart. and it will take much pressure to flap them to-gether. The growers are about the same, as sure to demand more duty on wools, especially on the washed combing and washed carpet wools. Few of the wool manufacturers, if any, will go any further than to say that they may agree to the present tariff. Not a few of them are theoretically in favor of free wool-that s, they would like free wool, but their friends among the wool growers would kick so bumptiously that for the sake of harmony they think they can spare a few dividends and mould them into a compromise. That is what the It is an interesting group of men who are in It is an interesting group of men who are in the conference. Capt. Sheppard of Texas, who looks almost as if his first name might be Jack, heads the growers. He is considerably indignant at Roger Q. Mills for saying that he represents more sheep than any man in Texas, Capt. Sheppard has 26,000 sheep on his Texan hils, and a ranch with acres that run up beyond 10,000. He has just concluded a little dicker, selling part of his land for sixty-five houses in Chicago. He has a long black beard, but his hair is trimmed with metropolitan expetness. Two of his new partners, just in today, are F. B. Wight of Trinidad, Col., and a man who corrais sheep by the thousand in Fort actness. Two of his new partners, just in today, are F. B. Wight of Trinidad, Col., and a man who corrals sheep by the thousand in Fort keDavitt, Tex., named Burbank. The Southwestern men affect the free and easy style, while the Boston manufacturers and dealers put on the style. William Whitman, who comes as the President of the Wool trowers' Association, and at the head of its committee of twelve, is a live young man with apple cheeks, a carefully cut frock coat, spectacies, and a black band on his hat, David L. Harpster would be a double to ludge Barnes, the monster Congressman from Georgia, if he only had a moustache. John L.

Bouston, who heads the carpet industry in Connecticut, is a short man, baid, with a grizmed gray moustache and jolly laugh. He is one of those who scheduled the money represented here as follows: Manufacturers, $400,00,000; growers, $300,000,000; dealers, $200,00,000, growers, $300,000,000; dealers, $200,day, Edward H. Ammidown of New York came this morning, and the Philadelphia carpet men came over in squads. Organization was all they managed to effect to-day, but there was a great amount of mysterious whispering in the corridors. The wool growers held a secret meeting in the evening, and late at night it was decided that the committees from the dealers and growers should be raised from five to twelve each, so that each interest should have an equal numerical representation. The manufacturers were at first thirteen in number, but supersition prevailed to the degree that one was dropped.

The old scheme of building a canal around

The old scheme of building a canal around Niagara Falls has been revived in a bill introduced by Representative Nutting of the Oswego district "to create a navigable waterway bedistrict" to create a navigable waterway between Lake Erie and Lake Ontario." The project was before the House, and, indeed, passed that body as long ago as 182-63, but failed to become a law. In the Forty-eighth Congress it was revived, and, again failing through, has been allowed to slumber peacefully until now. Judge Nutting is certain that the bill will eventually pass the House, although that result may not be reached this assion. The western New York members, especially the Buffalo men, are opposed to the canal scheme, and they regard with some interest the fact that Mr. Nutting is the only New York Representative on the Rivers and Harbor Committee. Their alarm in this direction is, however, without foundation, as the bill was referred to the Committee on Railways and Canals. The proposed canal will leave the Nagara River between Buffalo and the Falls, and make a circuit six miles in length. It will, according to surveys already made, cost about $10,000,000 or $12,000,000, Judge Nutting, if he gets an opportunity to speak, will not only champion this canal scheme, but declare in favor of canal building generally. He says the trouble with the railroads is that they legislate legislation—in other words, instead of the laws controlling them, they control the laws.

remarkable petition was presented to the Senate to-day by Mr. Hoar. It asked for a pension to Mrs. Jennie E. Stone, widow of Gen. Charles P. Stone, whose difficulty with the Josef Hofmann, the boy pianist, played beknown. Mrs. Stone declares that she and her known. Mrs. Stone declares that she and her children are helpless and in need of support. She recites Stone's services in behalf of his secontry, beginning in Maxico under Gen. Scott, where he won praise for gallantry at Chapaltepec and Molino del Rey. She tells of his serving as Chief of Ordnance at California, and prevaring a system of defence at San Francisco, and of his recruiting the District of Columbia Volunteers. She says his misfortanes were due to acts which were misconstrued, and unfortunate acts of some of his command that were incorrectly attributed to him. She goes on to say that in consequence he was subjected to harsh treatment, which, in connection with active and efficient duty in Louisiana, shattered his health and unsteadied his mind. His bodily condition was intensified by illness contracted through service in Louisiana, Illinois, and Virginia, forcing him to tender his resignation. Mrs. Stone shows that ill health kept him from going into any business, when he could lay up a penny for a rainy day, and was compelled to enter the service of the Pash of Egypt. The letter of the petitioner is dated at New York, where Mrs. Stone is now living, but the first signatures come from Boston, where the move evidently orginated. Sidney Barriett, the Nestor of the Boston bar, is the first signer. Others are T. J. Coolings, S. C. Cohb, ex-Mayor Martin Gen. F. A. Walker, ex-Congressman Bussell, Judge Devens, J. L. Roper, S. M. Weed, C. A. Whittier, and H. L. Higginson, the originator of the Symphony Concerts, Mrs. Custer's algnature is on the paper; also those of J. H. Choate, Fiz. John Porter, Gens. Fry and Rodenberg, Mayor Howitt, Col. R. G. Ingersoll. Alexander S. Webb, Gouverneur Morris, Jr. and Gen. W. T. Sherman.

Mrs. Cleveland proved the magic of her sower again this afternoon. It is a rule, strict-y enforced, of the Boston Symphony Orchestra banagement that the doors shall be closed exinst every one during the rendition of the sarious numbers. This rule has been adopted by revent those who have reached their seats a time from being disturbed by late arrivals. This alternoon when the performance began is albangh's Opera House the doors were stut, Mrs. Cleveland, who was momentarily appeted, had not arrived. Admission was dealed a number of ladies and gentlemen who were a little behind time, and positive astructions were given the doorkeeper not to allow seen Mrs. Cleveland to enter. He projected that he would obey his orders. The trood waited with Interest to see what he would do. Presently Mrs. Cleveland came up the saircase, looking unusually pretty in a sick Rack velvet costume. She glanced at the food door, and smiled pleasantly upon the feorsteper. The charm of her smile was irrestable, and the gate swung open for her to me the food. A moment later the doorkeeper to saintly murmuring to the manager: "I country her indeed I couldn't." tarious numbers. This rule has been adopted

The first new member to make a break in the Mitteth Congress was Mr. S. V. White of Brookba He was squelched, of course, but he ade a magnificent argument. The Urgency Desiency bill was under consideration in Committee of the Whole. Two hours were complies of the Whole. Two hours were that the formers with congress in discussing it. The discussion has reference solely to the question of the was responsible for the failure of the bill sits Forty-nith Congress. It lasted two hours, as covered so much ground that one of the early elected members of the Fiftieth Congress as about to ask leave to retire until the Forty-nith Congress had finished its business, when as dealers and the clerk began to read the items in the life of the congress had be clerk began to read the items in the life of the congress had the clerk began to read the items in the life of the congress had the clerk began to read the items in the life of the congress that the money appearated was justly due to the beneficiaries, saturated was justly due to the beneficiaries, and the opinion that it was the fault the forty-ninth Congress that the money as not patch. White made his brenk want the close of the reading of the bill. He was a manendment that interest check the form the 4th of March, at the rate of six per cent. He said that as the representatives of the Government of the United Btates were at fault because the money was not appropriated on the 4th of March last, and the men to whom the money was due were not responsible for the delay, the United States ought to pay the Interest on the money after the 4th of March. He fortified his position by saying that whenever anybody withheld money due the United States the Government invariably compelled them to pay six per cent, interest on it from the time it was due. Of course Mr. White was jumped upon, and jumped upon violently by Mr. Burnes of the Committee on Appropriations, who had charge of the bill. Burnes was supported by Mr. Randall, and Sunset Cox. who was Chairman of the Committee on the Whole, declede that Mr. White was out of order, because the Government, under some decision in the shadowy past, paid no interest beyond five per cent. Before Mr. White could puil himself together and substitute live for six per cent, the Clerk resumed the reading of the bill, and he was left high and dry on a sand bar. Tom Reed immediately rushed down the asle in front of Mr. White, took his penderous hands from his pockets, and lovingly lectured Mr. White on his rashness. Meantime Vance of Connecticut and Cummings of New York walked across the chamber and warmly congratulated Mr. White upon bis logic. At this Reed turned and chiefed the two fresh Democratic mombers of Congress, warning Mr. White that they were delegate sfrom the host of Armageddon, and that their congratulations boded no good to him. Mr. White's sneech was magnificently jointed and exquisitely delivered, Members of the House, however, commented upon the fact that it had the same defect as the first specches of Demosthenes. Mr. White is not only an honor to Plymouth Church and Wall street, but to Christianity at large and the Fittleth Congress.

The second of a series of Republican cam-

The second of a series of Republican campaign speeches to be delivered in the Senate for use in the campaign of 1888 was made in the Senate to-day by Mr. Hale of Maine. Mr. Sherman's speech last week was the first. As a piece of political literature, the speech of Mr. Hale was quite a success. Mr. Hale spent the holiday recess in preparing it, and he did it with much care. His text was a resolution, which he offered in December, providing for a special committee of Senators to investigate the civil service. When he arose to-day and called up the resolution. Senator Cockrell of Missouri desired to present an amendment that would destroy much of the eloquent preamble of Mr. Hale's resolution. In deference to Mr. Hale, who did not want his speech spoiled in advance of delivery. Mr. Cockrell did not Insist, and he will have his turn some other day. The Republican Senators all enjoyed Hale's speech to-day, and Messrs. Hawley, Spooner, Dawes, Hoar, and others gathered close about and occasionally prompted him. Cockrell and Vest and one or two other Democratic Senators got in some good repiles, and did not seem greatly worried by Hale's attacks. The Maine Senator devoted almost his entire speech to Mr. Cleveland. He quoted every utterance he ever made on the subject of civil service reform, even newspaper paragraphs, He dwelt at length on the subject of civil service reform, even newspaper paragraphs. He dwelt at length on the subject of civil service reform even newspaper paragraphs. He dwelt at length on the subject of political assessments, and refterated the charac that while Cleveland denounced them he winked at the practice, and even contributed money himself. Mr. Hale gave with great particularity of detail the history of Mr. Cleveland's connection with the New York election last fall, and the circumstances surrounding his writing of the colebrated letter endorsing Col. Fellows. In the course of his remarks on this branch of the subject Mr. Hale quoted the letter of Mr. Carl Schurz, in which be expressed a desire to know the name of the enomy of Cleveland who had caused him to write the fatal letter. The name of Mr. Schurz was more than the flery Missourian Senator (West) could st Sharman's speech last week was the first. As a piece of political literature, the speech of Mr.

John A. Vandernoel of New York city and Elizabeth C. Botelle of Kingston, N. Y., were married in St. John's Church this evening at 7 o'clock. The rector, the Rev. Dr. Leonard, read the service, and the surpliced choir led the bridal party to the chuncel singing a processional hymn. The bride was on the arm of her guardian. Judge Schoommaker of the Interstate Commission, and he gave her away. There were six bridesmaids-Miss Muidrow, Miss Bier, the Misses Finney and Misses Hurry, and the bride's sister, Nina Botelle, was maid of honor. Robert Winckley of New York was best man. The bride's gown was of white satin, trimmed with liles of the yalley. A full tulle veil teil over the figure, held by these flowers, and her bouquet was also of lilles of the valley. The bridesmaids were white silk and lace, in short gowns, with ribbons to match. They carried houquets of roses, in pairs of white, pink, and yellow. The maid of honor wore a blue gown. The guests included many New York people and resident society. A reception followed the ceremony, and afterward Mr. and Mrs. Vanderpoel started for New York. o'clock. The rector, the Rev. War Department during the rebellion is well fore a church full of fashionable people this known. Mrs. Stone declares that she and her afternoon. It was his second concert here this week, and there was more delight than at the first on Monday evening. Madame Hastreiter sang once, responding to an encore with a persistent bow, Mr. De Anna sang once, and repeated Madame Hastreiter's acknowledgments. But the audience was happy to be consoled by the wonderful little boy, who was first, last, and throughout the attraction. When he left the stage it was with a big basket of flowers in his hand, and his smiling face turned back as he bowed to the audience. No prettier, sweeter, more simple leavetaking was ever seen in Washington. The Russian Minister, the Swedish Minister and his wife. Justice Miller's wife. Representative Hitts swife and their two little sons, Senator Spooner's wife, Mrs. L. Z. Leiter, Miss Adele Grant, Miss Loring, Mrs. Walter A. Wood and her daughter were in the audionce.

It was generally supposed that the nominations of Messrs. Dickinson and Vilas, which week, and there was more delight than at the tions of Mesers. Dickinson and Vilas, which were favorably reported to the Senate yesterhave been but for a little misunderstanding among the Senators. The matter was talked over yesterday, and it was agreed that an executive session should be held to-day and the nominations acted upon. It was learned to-day, however, that several Democratic Senators understood that action would be delayed for a day or two to the end that, if possible, the nominations of Messrs, Lamar, Dickinson, and Vilas could all be disposed of at once. One or two of the Republican Senators also understood that no action would be had to-day, and they left the chamber to attend to social duties. It was therefore necessary to postnone the executive session, greatly to the surprise of the Senators who did not have a clear understanding of the situation. The Senators are very courteous in their treatment of each other just now, because if any of them should insist on vindicating Mr. Lamar by making the nominations of vilas and bickinson desend on the neuton in his case, they could easily do so. Senator Harris of Tennessee always makes the Democratic motion to go into executive session, and when it is found that his party wants to adjourn be simply says so, and the Senate adjourns without further delay.

The Secretary of the Treasury to-day transmitted to Congress a deficiency estimate, submitted by the Secretary of the Interior, to meet losses sustained by Colorow and other Ute Indians last summer by reason of being hastily driven from Garfield county, Colorado, by the civil and military authorities of that State. The Secretary of the Interior says that the claims aggregate $30,925, after deducting $1,125, the value of forty-five sheep subsequently restored to Colorow. The Commissioner of Indian Affairs recommends that these claims be presented to the Governor of the State of Colorado, with a request for such action as will secure their payment by the proper State or county authorities. The Secretary says that this course is perhaps a proper proceeding to take, but it does not give promise of such speedy settlement as is demanded by the disturbed condition of the Ute Indians, justice to the individual claimants, and the good of the service. Congress is therefore requested to appropriate a sum sufficient to hear the claims, and to direct what, if any, proceedings shall be taken to secure reimbursement from the State of Colorado.

Mr. Coke of Texas took the floor in the Senate to-day in opposition to the Blair Educa-tional bill. He said that the passage of the bill would be the longest stride ever taken since the Constitution was adopted toward centralithe Constitution was adopted toward centralization and consolidated paternal government. Since 1880, he said, the most marked feature of the advancement of the South was the growth of her common schools. They were to-day under the influence of a public sentiment keenly alive to their importance, and it was safe to say that so far as illiteracy in the South is curable it is decreasing under the beneficent influence of an improved system of public schools.

Mix, were received by the President this morning, and presented him with an invitation, in the name of the battalion, requesting the honor of President and Mrs. Cleveland's company at the annual reception on Tuesday evening, Jan. 17. The committee urged the President to accept, and pointed out that while other cities had been honored with a visit from himself and Mrs. Cleveland, New York as yet had not been so favored. The President said that he could not help but feel an attachment for the well-known corps represented by the committee, for it had frequently acted as his escort, and if he should be with regret. While he could not nowgive a decisive answer, he would say he desired very much to accede to the wishes of the Old Guard.

JERSEY OFFICES FILLED. The Republicans Carry Out their Caucus Programme and Rush Things.

TRENTON, Jan. 11 .- The Republicans carried out their caucus programme relentlessly to-day, holding their joint meeting, and reelecting Comptroller Anderson and Treasurer Toffey by their regular party vote. The Democrats voted for Alderman James Smith. Jr., of Newark for Comptroller, and for ex-Senator James E. Moon of Warren county for Treasurer. The term of each officer is three years, and the salary $4,500. In the same way ex-Speaker E. A. Armstrong got the District Judgeship in Camden, a five-year, $2,500-a-year, nothing-to-do berth, over the votes of the Democrats for Richard Miller. Police Justice P. Farmer Wanser and Samuel Stilsing of Jersey City were reflected without opposition, the Democrats refraining from voting, except Messrs, Feeny and Norton of Jersey City, who endorsed the Justices as good men and true. in spite of their Republicanism, and voted for them. Each term is for three years. When Speaker Dickieson announced his com-mittees, it was Farmer Peck's turn to cast mittees, it was Farmer Peck's turn to cast looks of scorn, while Lawyer Hill's handsome front was as wiited as his yesterilay's basket of flowers. Mr. Hill was made Chairman of the Judiciary Committee, but Farmer Peck not only got good places himself, but had his side of the Essex delegation eared for in the handsome manner that is characteristic of a Speaker who knows where his friends are. Farmer Peck's side partner, Mr. Lozier, was put on the Committee on Municipal Corporations, in side of Lawyer Hill's threat that such an event would lead to awful perturbation in his manly bosom and civil war in Essex. On all the important committees the Democrats were put off with only one member to four Republicans. Speaker Dickinson explains this by alleging that there were not enough Democrats to go around, but a more reasonable explanation would be that there were too many hungry Republicans going around. The more important committees are as follows:

President Howell of the bridge trustees is in doubt as to whether the rule, adopted by the trustees on Monday, forbidding the carrying of even unlighted eigars by passengers, rying of even unificated eights by passengers, can be enforced. NEWS OF THE BALL PLAYERS. ed Pfeffer on his Way Home-Has be

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11 .- Fred Pfeffer left for home to-day. Before leaving he said: "I have not quite settled my difference with Spalding." He was evidently disinclined to admit that he has had to accode to the latter's terms. A week ago he wrote to Spalding setting forth his idea of salary, &c., and not getting an answer, he announced that he would start for Chicago. The Eastern players here who have been expecting big engagements for the next season have found it to their disad-vantage to be so far from the base ball headvantage to be so far from the base ball head-quarters, and the suddenness with which some of them have left for home is thought here to indicate that they are as eager to come to terms as some of the managers are to sign them. The Eastern men here say everything is settled between Spalding and Pfeffer, but the latter wants to let himself down as easy as possible, and will not openly admit that he has fallen into line. He refuses to say what salary he is to receive.

Galvin is very indignant at President Nimick's assertion that he threw his arm out in Buffalo. Jim asks:

"I wonder if Nimick remembers the game I pitched against Boston the day he bought me? I told George Myers to catch his best, and he did. I hit the ball and ran bases like a young blood. We shut Boston out by a score of 4 to 0, and they made two hitsoff me. Everybody was surprised at my work and asked what was the matter. I said I was going to Smoky Hollow. Does that look as if my arm was gone in Buffalo? No, I hurt my arm in Louisville by sliding into Cross. Nimick don't take me for a fool, does he? I want to get away from here if he don't pay me as much as any pitcher. I will give $500 for my release."

It is thought his terms will be conceded rather than let him go.

WEDNESDAY, Jan. 11. The trading element in the stock market used its influence to-day in favor of lower prices, Its operations were encouraged by hints from abroad of another war scare and rumors to the effect that the nealth of the German Emperor was failing again. These reports, together with the indifference of foreign dealers, naturally made a hesitating market; and when they were followed by rumors that the strike of the coal miners was spreading, and also by a some-what disappointing showing of earnings by the St. Paul Company for the first week in January, prices began to yield generally. The reactionary tendency of the market was checked for a time by some heavy buying of Reading, which idvanced that stock fractionally, but it soon began to move with the rest of the list. St. Paul led the list in point of activity, and was the only stock that suffered a material loss, counts, a speculative interest that was caught with the stock at the decline found an opportunity yesterday and to-day to realize upon its holdings, in Reading, which was the only other stock in which there was enough doing to attract attention, there appeared to be goo support throughout. The early buying was thought to be to cover short contracts, but there is, of course, no certainty that such was the case. So far as Wall street was advised, Beware of a slight irritation of the throat Brummell's changed to-day. Mr. Corbin appears to state the issue very clearly, when he says that the strike has resolved itself into the question as to whether the owners of the property shall manage it or the Knights of Labor. Upon to whether the owners of the property shall manage it or the Knights of Labor. Upon this proposition he will unquestionably have the support of his associates in the management, and doubtless of the public as well. No significance can be attached to the dealings through the rest of the list, as they appeared to be almost entirely the result of operations by room traders. At the decline scattering orders to buy stocks were filled by commission houses, indicating that there is some general support under the market.
